

WORKING GROUPS AND ROUNDTABLES

Saturday, March 30, 2019 | 2:00pm - 5:00pm

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS COUNCIL – KICK OFF MEETING

Open to all interested attendees who are under 35 years old (please use the registration form)

The newly formed Young Professionals Council encourages young professionals (currently defined as 35 years old and under) looking to connect on a variety of topics. This is the next generation of diverse and future innovators in the toll industry looking to build long-lasting professional relationships with their peers in a casual and comfortable setting.

Discussion will be led by Matt Woodhouse, Consultant, WSP, Washington, DC

Important notes: Leaders of these sessions may change the exact timing of their individual sessions, but they will all be within the 2:00pm-5:00pm timeframe.

Additionally, a session may be cancelled if there's not enough interest so be sure to show your interest by checking the appropriate box(es) on the registration form.

Sunday, March 31, 2019 | 2:00pm – 5:00pm

CAV WORKING GROUP

Open to CAV Working Group only. (please use the registration form)

IBTTA's Connected and Automated Vehicle Working Group will be discussing specific risks and opportunities for the tolling industry associated with emerging CAV technologies.

Discussion led by Lev Pinelis, P.E., Director, Tolling Operations & Innovation, Transurban, Alexandria, VA

CHIEF TECHNOLOGY OFFICERS & CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICERS ROUNDTABLE

Open to all interested attendees (please use the registration form)

This session will bring together the technology experts from both public and private sector organizations to offer insight and solutions that will sustain the toll industry into the future. If you are a CTO or CIO, come and share the technology issues that are keeping you up night.

Discussion led by Joe Averkamp, Vice President, Systems & Solutions, Parsons Corporation, Alexandria, VA

TOLLING 101 — A PREP CLASS

Open to all interested attendees (please use the registration form)

This session is for industry newbies to “get smart” about the current state of All-Electronic Tolling, Interoperability, Payment Methods and any other industry questions you may have prior to jumping into the Summit. If you're new to the industry, bring your questions, no matter how basic you may think they are, and ask the expert!

Discussion led by Marty Stone, Ph.D., AICP, Chief Operating Officer, Business Development, Egis, Tampa, FL

CYBER SECURITY – CRITICAL INFRASTRUCTURE ROUNDTABLE

Open to all interested attendees (please use the registration form)

Tolling systems are increasingly complex and as time progresses tolling systems have more and more points of entry and potential intrusion by people intent on disruption or worse. Tolling operators are often faced with the challenge of relying on third parties to provide and secure the systems that serve as the backbone for revenue collection. Further, some of these systems – e.g. roadside systems – have unique characteristics that often make them difficult to align with the more common IT security standards and best practices. This session will focus on those practical measures a toll operator can put in place to design and deliver a plan that ensures the security of the Information Technology systems and the Operational Technology systems.

Discussion led by Mark Cantelli, Vice President, Conduent, Germantown, MD and Vickie Dewey, Director of Toll Operations and Delivery Excellence, AECOM, Orange, California

LEGAL ROUNDTABLE

Open to all interested attendees (please use the registration form)

Learn about the legal obligations and liabilities that tolling agencies encounter when motorists become their customers and how operations, policies and procedures can mitigate exposure to legal challenges and public and political scrutiny.

Discussion will be led by Marcelle Jones, Senior Transportation Policy Advisor, Jacobs, Dallas, TX and Meryl Mandus, General Counsel, State Road and Tollway Authority, Atlanta, GA

PROCUREMENT ROUNDTABLE – PART 2

Open to all interested attendees (please use the registration form)

This session is a continuation of the conversation that started last fall during the IBTTA Annual Meeting in Baltimore. The public procurement process is something that all IBTTA members endure. Agencies issue RFPs that their consultants help draft and the vendors respond to. After a lot of time and money spent, hopefully there is a meeting of the minds and a new partnership. But often there is so much unsaid about the process and what could have made it better or help match up the agencies needs with the vendor's goods or services, but well-intentioned restrictions on communications, hinder the ability for the parties to collaborate to improve the process. Come listen and participate in an interactive discussion as representatives from the public agency, vendor and consulting worlds have a frank and open discussion on the public procurement process in the toll industry. We'll talk about what works, what doesn't and what could make the process better. This will be a discussion with audience members and the three anchor panelists. No PowerPoints, no pre-set presentations. The conversation will go where the audience participants take it and hopefully, we will all learn new ways to improve this age-old process!

Discussion will be led by Chris Tomlinson, Executive Director State Road and Tollway Authority (SRTA) and Georgia Regional Transportation Authority (GRTA), Atlanta, GA

SPECIAL POST-SUMMIT MEETINGS

TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 2019

Alliance for Toll Interoperability

Alliance for Toll Interoperability is proud to announce that our annual 2019 industry round table will be held in conjunction with Team Florida and IBTTA during the IBTTA Annual Technology Summit. This exciting partnership will promote many new and broad discussions from a diverse group of industry experts. This meeting is anticipated to draw the largest crowd to date, despite following a standing-room-only event in 2018.

Returning by popular demand for the 8th consecutive year, this event facilitates new contacts and provides an opportunity for small group discussion on relevant topics in the transportation industry. Participants have the opportunity to rotate between tables while networking amongst industry professionals. The round table event and following reception are open to all attendees and guests of the IBTTA Annual Technology Summit at no additional cost.

In addition to the discussions available, speakers of interest are frequent features. In the past this has included the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Administration, State Secretaries of Transportation, and key executives from multiple state transportation authorities.

Roundtable Topics for 2019 include:

1. Technology and Innovation (Transitions, entry barriers, road alternatives)
2. Toll operations (Congestion management & interstate tolling)
3. Transit & connected vehicles (Disruptive Tech, mobility change & preparation)
4. Finance & Policy (Changing models: ownership, CAV & toll use choices)
